

What if I have a flare up while I am pregnant?

If your disease is active when you conceive, or you have flares during your pregnancy, you may be more likely to give birth early or have a baby with a low birth weight. But, your doctor should be able to help you bring your symptoms under control -

How can I increase the likelihood of having a healthy baby?

